Adrift 10 Hours, 11 Saved From Pacific

Survivors All Well, Report

LSM Rescues Catalina Crew

HONOLULU — (UP) — A rescue ship today saved 11 men who drifted for 10 hours in their Catalina flying boat after an emergency landing in a remote section of the Pacific ocean.

The freighter Grainger, one of two ships that raced to the sinking plane, radioed Pearl Harbor that the landing ship LSM-448 had taken nine crew members and two passengers aboard.

The Grainger reported all the survivors were safe and well.

The flying boat, en route from Kwajalein to Johnston Island, was forced down some 650 miles southwest of Johnston at 7:30 p. m. EST., yesterday after one engine failed.

The LSM was 75 miles away, but her radio operator happened to be listening off schedule. He heard the navy relay a broadcast asking all ships in the area to steam to the aid of the stricken plane.

The LSM, under the command of Lt. Floyd McDaniel Furr of Rock Hills, S. C., reached the scene about nine hours later. The Grainger arrived shortly afterward.

The rescued crewmen included:

Lt. Cmdr. William Hartman, Altadena, Cal., who flew a PBY escort halfway to the Pacific coast on William Odom's first flight from Honolulu to the Mainland; Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate Robert Brook, Rose Hill, N. C.; Aviation Radioman P. M. Conley, St. Louis, Mo., and Aviation Ordnance Man W. V. Webb, Hugo, Okla.

The passengers were Seaman Henry O. Davis and Boatswain's Mate Frank F. Dioguard, whose home addresses were not known.

The Catalina, which was en route to San Diego for decommissioning, first reported it was in difficulty at 12:45 p. m. (5:45 p. m. EST) yesterday. The pilot radioed his position and said:

"I am ditching."

Soon afterward came another message reporting that the plane was down in the open sea and apparently undamaged. Later it began to ship water.

Tear Bombs Quell Mob

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Tear gas bombs were thrown by police into a fighting throng of pickets and non-strikers at Fawick Airflex company today in the most violent skirmish of the 21-day strike.

One picket was arrested and two workers were cut by flying glass. Ten mounted patrolmen, 25 deputy sheriffs and six patrolmen joined the engagement between about 150 pickets and some 50 workers trying to get into the plant.

Tear gas and charges by mounted police finally dispersed the angry crowd.

The strike by local 735 of the CIO-United Electrical Workers started at Hawick March 7 after the firm withdrew recognition because leaders failed to sign non-communist affidavits as required by the Taft-Hartley law.

The pickets, police said, had parked their cars around the plant entrance during the night to block non-strikers. But this morning, two police zone cars led a line of autos carrying non-strikers into the plant.

Then, as on two previous occasions, police sai the pickets started throwing rocks and scrap iron at the automobiles, breaking windows and damaging cars.

Police replied with tear gas bombs after a free-for-all fight developed.

Discomposed Composer . . .

Interview begins . . .

What's That? . . .

Why, um, ah . . .

Whew . . .

As his press conference at the controversial Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace in New York progresses, famed Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich looks progressively more discomfited. At the end of his encounter with free speech he mops his brow.

Red 'Peace' Unit Meets

NEW YORK —(UP) —A permanent committee of the communist-dominated "world peace conference" met today to plan methods of carrying out resolutions voted by delegates of 16 nations during the three-day meeting.

Organized as a committee of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions which sponsored the conference, the group gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel where 2,500 delegates voted yesterday to work for peace, to strengthen the United Nations and to defend free speech.

Some 18,000 persons crowded into Madison Square Garden last night to witness the finale to the conference and to hear the composer Dmitri Shostakovich, one of Russia's delegates, play piano selections from his own fifth symphony.

When they left the arena, the audience was sprayed with insecticide by a woman who leaned from an upper-story window near the garden entrance.

50-Mile Winds Whip City

Rain Floods Basements

A rambunctious March lion roared over Mansfield yesterday as 50-mile winds tore at the city area. No major damage was reported.

Tree branches were scattered in streets in some sections The strong wind followed a heavy rain and electrical storm Saturday night which flooded seven basements in the Ohio street area, just south of Glessner avenue.

Sewer department men said a blocked sanitary sewer backed the water into the basements.

Today, a wave of "spring fever" gripped the city as cotton clouds drifted lazily across a blue sky and the mercury edged up to 60 degrees.

There was good news from the weatherman, too. It will be warmer Tuesday, he said. Skies may be cloudy, however.

CLIMBS TO 67

The mercury rose to 57 at 11:30 a. m. today, with every promise that it would mount into the 60's before the sun goes down. Yesterday's high for the city was 67 degrees at 2:30 p. m. Other high readings throughout the state included: Cincinnati, 68; Cleveland, 71; Columbus, 69, and Dayton, 66.

The heavy rains Saturday night and early Sunday flooded roads in Richland county and other sections of the state.

High water inundated two roads in Richland county yesterday, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said

All roads, however, were reported passable today as the swollen Cedar Fork and Black Fork receded.

County crews placed torches at the steel truss bridge across the Cedar Fork on the Winterstine road in Cass township at 1 a. m. Sunday. Crews said water had flooded the highway near the bridge.

In Cass township, torches were placed at the bridge over the Black Fork on the Bowman street road, where the highway was flooded immediately north of the bridge.

Deny Bail To Babich

MILWAUKEE — (UP) — Milton Babich, 19, was arraigned in four minutes today on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham, sister of the girl he married after the killing.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 12. Babich was denied bail and his pretty, brunet bride, who has indicated she will stand by him, wept.

The arraignment was rushed through district court before Judge Harvey L. Neelen, District Attorney William McCauley read the charge against Babich.

Babich confessed Saturday that he shot Patricia twice in the head and dropped her weighted body into the Milwaukee river Feb. 10 because she made "wisecracks" over the pregnancy of her sister, Kathleen, 17. Babich eloped to Kalamazoo, Mich., with Kathleen March 18, two days before her sister's body was found in the river.

Babich did not enter a plea today. He is expected to do so at the preliminary hearing.

Gets Last Wish For Brass Band

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. —(AP) —Albert W. Parsons got his last wish. A 22-piece brass band played at his funeral yesterday.

Before the 73-year-old grocer and real estate man died last Friday, he asked that his funeral be a time of happiness—not of sorrow. He requested that a brass band play at his funeral. His widow, Clementine, carried out the wish.

$28 Apartment Costs $110

Tenant Asks $3,635 In Rent Action

The largest suit for rent overcharges in this area since the beginning of rent control in 1942 was filed in common pleas court today.

Mrs. Mary Blair, 540 McPherson street, was charged by Henry Christian, 117½ Park avenue east, with charging $110 a month rent for an apartment controlled at $28.

Christian filed a petition to recover $3,635. He alleges Mrs. Blair charged him $110 a month for 10 months and that when he rented the apartment last May she made him pay $200 for furniture which he said was worth $50.

There were three couples living in the six-room apartment over Margaret's Inn, the area rent control office said. The six persons shared one bath, the office said.

Mrs Blair said today she leases the building for $140 a month from Thomas Deloff, 224 West Sixth street. Deloff said the lease price includes the restaurant. Mrs. Blair said she has to charge the $110 to meet the terms of her lease.

The housing expediter's office said that Mrs. Blair has been cited several times for rent overcharges, but the charges were always dismissed.

Plenty of Go In Old Swoose

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—There's still plenty of life in the old Swoose.

The fabulous war plane with the strange name of Swoose,—half swan, half goose,—finished another leg of her final flight last night. She's destined for the Smithsonian institute's air museum.

The flying fortress, only war plane to see continuous service from the Dec. 7, 1941, to V-J Day, came to Albuquerque from Hamilton field, Calif.

MANILA —(AP)— Manila was rocked by two earthquakes 15 minutes apart today. No damage was reported.

Wind Toll Reaches 29

South's Spring Is Nightmare

TUPELO, Miss. (UP) — Tornadoes and windstorms that have turned the week-old spring season into a nightmare for states from the Gulf coast to Missouri today claimed a weekend toll of 29 dead and an estimated 150 injured.

Other hundreds were homeless. Property damage from the vicious, whirling winds ran into inestimable thousands.

The hopping, skipping storms began as early as Thursday night and by today had paid destructive, death-dealing visits to Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Arkansas suffered the highest death toll. A dozen communities in the southern and east-central portion of the state, from England and Scott to Little Rock, were shaken by the storms. They left 17 dead and at least 65 injured.

The last and one of the most violent twisters hit Belden and Chesterfield, Miss., Saturday night, killing three persons and injuring 20. That brought Mississippi's total to nine dead and more than 50 hurt.

LOSES $16,000,000

BALTIMORE—(AP)—A net loss last year of $16,710,762 was reported today by the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft company.

DeGaulle Gains As Reds Trail

French Regime Will Stay In

(By United Press)

Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Rally of the French People (RPF) emerged today as the strongest single party in France, but Premier Henri Queuille's middle-road government was assured of remaining in power.

The five parties of the "Third Force" coalition scored a thumping victory in yesterday's runoff county council elections, defeating both the De Gaullists of the right and the communists of the left in a test of relative political strengths.

Uniting behind one candidate in most districts, the government parties captured 380 seats with only two of the 795 runoff races undecided. The De Gaullists won 219 seats, the communists only 20.

Yesterday's elections were held to fill seats for which no candidate received a clear majority in elections the previous Sunday. A simple plurality decided the results.

COMMIES LOSE

Combined tabulations of the voting of the past two Sundays showed that the De Gaullists had tripled their political pull—they now held 389 seats compared with 131 in the old councils. The communists, meanwhile, had lost four-fifths of their holdings.

Other foreign news today included:

ROME — Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza was en route to the United States, armed with full parliamentary authorization to bring Italy into the Atlantic alliance. The Italian Senate last night approved participation in the treaty talks by a vote of 188 to 112. The Chamber of Deputies had approved the action March 14.

TEHRAN — Iran announced that it had protested to the Soviet embassy against an "unprovoked" Soviet attack on an Iranian frontier post in which one Iranian was killed and two were taken prisoners.

TEL AVIV—Israel began moving the headquarters of five ministers and 10 other government departments to Jerusalem in what appeared an open step to make the Holy City capital of the new state.

LONDON — High-ranking diplomats from 10 countries sat down to write a constitution for the council of Europe as a first step toward a possible United States of Europe.

7 Rescued From Ice

EDMONTON, Alta.—(AP)—A ski-equipped U. S. Air Force Dakota late yesterday rescued seven American airmen from the barren waste of Ellesmere Island inside the Arctic circle.

The seven had crash-landed Thursday in a U. S. C-82 cargo plane while on a 1,100 mile flight from Frobisher bay on Baffin Island to Resolute bay on Cornwallis Island.

Details of the rescue were lacking.

G. W. BAHL

G. W. Bahl, Realtor, Dies at 80

Succumbs at Crile Hospital

Gaylord W. Bahl, 80, a Mansfield realtor for the past 40 years, died Sunday afternoon at Crile General hospital near Cleveland. Mr. Bahl had been taken to the hospital early last week suffering from the effects of a fall at his home, 109 West Second street.

Mr. Bahl was born May 29, 1868, in Mansfild, the son of the late Philip and Lovina Bahl and had lived here his entire life.

A member of the Mansfield Real Estate board, Mr. Bahl served at one time as its president. He was a former commander of the Charles Dick camp, Spanish American War veterans; a member of the Mansfield Lodge, No. 35 F. and A. M., and the Mansfield Chapter and Mansfield Council. He was a member of the St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Surviving are his wife, Nellie Wilkinson Bahl; three sons, J. Pierpont Bahl, Gaylord Bahl jr., and Charles Edward; three grandchildren, all of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Jones Memorial at 3 p. m. Tuesday by Dr. Herbert S. Garnes, pastor of the St. Luke's church. Burial will be in Memorial Park

Sun Spots Blamed For Sky Display

The display of lights you saw in the sky last night was caused by a "hydrogen hurricane," or Aurora Borealis.

The northern lights flashed across the heavens, creating a show and hindering radio reception.

Val Isham, Mansfield astronomer, explained that the lights result from explosions of balls of hydrogen in sunspots.

According to Isham, when these huge "hurricanes" occur on the sun, electrons are shot toward the earth. If the "hurricane" has been particularly heavy, the northern sky lights up with the reflection, and we have an Aurora Borealis.

New War Of Nerves Feared

6-Hour Day Battle Seen

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — Production resumed in the nation's coal mines today as John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers returned to work at the end of a two-week memorial shutdown.

The miners were jubilant as they began blasting out coal for the first time since Lewis ordered all mines east of the Mississippi closed March 14. But operators and miners alike feared a "war of nerves" for the next 90 days when the union opens its fight for new concessions from the industry.

One miner at Harwick, Pa., spoke for many last night when he dusted off his safety helmet and said, "I'm going to get in every day I can, because I think we'll be back out again."

The mine holiday was widely viewed as the opening salvo to the UMW's 1949 contract battle. Lewis himself warned miners in his notice ending the work stoppage that they "would have to fight again during this year of 1949."

SEEK HOURS CUT

The UMW's 200-man policy committee will meet in Washington next month to discuss union strategy in seeking its chief aims —a six-hour day and an increase from 20 to 50 cents a ton on the retirement fund "royalty." The operators already indicated they would resist any "improvements" because of "falling coal prices."

Lewis billed the walkout as a protest against the now-confirmed appointment of James Boyd as director of the U. S. Bureau of Mines and as a mourning period for the "slaughter" of miners during his tenure in office.

Conversely, industry sources said Lewis's real aim in calling the holiday was to trim the nation's above-ground coal supply and thus strengthen the union's hand in the May negotiations.

The bituminous coal institute estimated the work stoppage cut the pre-strike 67,000,000-ton stockpile by some 16,000,000 tons.

The back-to-work movement of the 463,000 idle miners was expected to proceed without a hitch.

A western Pennsylvania coal operators' spokesman said the walkout had cost full-employed miners $150 each, or a total of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

Johnson Vows Unity

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Louis Johnson was sworn in today as Secretary of Defense and promised that the Army, Navy and Air Force "will be united as one in the service of the nation."

The American people expect it and they shall have it," the 58-year-old Clarksburg, W. Va., attorney said shortly after taking over the office from retiring Secretary James C. Forrestal, a New York banker.

Forrestal, the nation's first defense secretary, had held the post since it was created by the armed services unification act passed in June, 1947. Prior to that he had served as Secretary of the Navy in cabinets of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman.

The colorful swearing-in ceremony was the most elaborate the Capital ever has seen for installation of a cabinet officer. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

In a statement, Johnson outlined his aims in heading the defense establishment. He promised:

"Our defense policy will consist in mustering the maximum of strength, within the limits of our economy and our democracy, to . . . make America secure by discouraging any potential aggressor."

Mother-Slayer Gets Life Term

Common Pleas Judge Clarence J. Crossland sentenced Ferrell after rejecting his motion for a new trial.

The Bride Was Absent

Princess Fawzia Weds By Proxy

CAIRO — (UP) — Beautiful Princess Fawzia, sister of Egypt's King Farouk, was married today to a wealthy Egyptian, but court circles said she did not take part in the wedding ceremony.

A cabinet announcement said the princess was joined in marriage to Maj. Ismail Sherine Bey.

The cabinet wished the couple all happiness, but gave no details of the ceremony.

However, authoritative court sources said the usual procedure for moslem marraiges was followed, with a proxy appearing for the bride.

King Farouk stood proxy for Princess Fawzia at the ceremony in Abdin palance, these fources said, then gave a luncheon for his slender, almond-eyed sister and her 31-year-old husband. Sherine is press officer for the Egyptain cabinet.

It was understood that the wedding was private, with only members of the royal family, close friends and palace officials present. Even the diplomatic corps was not invited.

The newlyweds are expected to live at Maadi Garden, a Cairo suburb.

Princess Fawzia, one of the world's most beautiful women, was divorced from the Shah of Iran last November after she failed to bear him an heir to the throne.

She is president of the Mohamed Ali El welfare society, which provides free medical care for the poor. She was a volunteer nurse during the Egyptian campaign in Palestine and held the honorary rank of Marshal in the Egyptian army.

Sherine comes from an aristocratic family and his sister, Princess Mehivieche, is married to Prince Said Tousson,

Daughter of British Miner Proves Successful Diplomat

NORTH BERGEN, N. J.—(AP)—The British Labor government's most successful post-war export to America goes back home this week.

She's a new kind of diplomat—Ada Fishburn, a 24-year-old factory girl, daughter of a coal miner.

We've had her here on a one-month swap for an American girl who traded jobs with her for that period. The idea of the American girl was that an exchange of factory workers would help international understanding.

And it has worked with Ada, the first British girl to come.

"Ask me to come back again and I won't say 'no,'" she said.

She has probably been the most feted English woman to visit these shores since her own Queen Elizabeth, but as she says:

"I 'aven't let it go to me head. I said I wouldn't and I 'aven't."

Unswayed by America's luxurious indoor bathtubs and its robust outdoor manhood, she is returning content to the land and the lad she left behind her.

The land is the mine-pitted country of Durham, near the Scottish border. And the lad is Ronnie Lancaster, her boy friend for many months. She said he wrote "and said he missed me."

It would have been very easy for Ada, a girl who never had been away from home overnight, to have lost her head. She got a 24-karat welcome. She worked days at her factory job, but her nights have been a round of glamorous entertainment.

She has seen Manhattan from the deepest subway — "not so clean as our tubes in London. Oh, they're beautiful in London" — to the peak of the Empire State building. "That was a sight."

She has been in an exclusive night club in New York - - - so excited she didn't eat a bite - - - tasted spinach for the first time in her life - - - and couldn't stomach it - - - it "tasted strong."

She has met some political leaders . . . gone to two wrestling exhibitions (they impressed her more) . . . Had her hair done by a ritzy Fifth Avenue saloon and liked it less than her own $4 permanent . . . Spoken on the radio eight or nine times.

All this has puzzled her some, but unsettled her not at all.

"I am not sophisticated," she said. "I am an ordinary factory girl—a lucky one."

"England never sent us a better ambassador," said her boss, Walter Simpson, president of the Duro Test corporation. "She has not become spoiled in the least by her reception."

One reason is the unshakeable personal dignity of this small, blue-eyed, fair-haired girl. She has enjoyed her Cinderella role and is reconciled to the fact that midnight always strikes for Cinderella.

"I have so much to tell me mom," she said. She will take with her many happy memories and leave behind her many pleasant remembrances. She has been very popular here with her fellow workers.

"They just treat me as one of their own," she said. "I've never felt lonely. It's the people I met here I'll miss when I've gone back—more than the food. I shant forget a one."

The factory boys and girls threw a surprise party for her and gave her a robe and some slippers. She has many other presents—$100 from an anonymous well-wisher, earrings, bubble gum, clothing, and, for some odd reason, tea.

Ada got $40 a week here compared to $15 at home. She is a top worker and had no difficulty keeping pace in an American factory. But she isn't sure whether the higher salary here meant she could live better.

"The food is dearer," she said, "but clothing costs much less. And the rents—I couldn't live with my family here. And how much do you pay for a doctor?"

What does she like most about America?

"The quickness of it. It's a very rush business. And the gadgets. There isn't so much work to do around the house here."

Would she like to stay longer?"

"I never expected to have the opportunity to come to America," she said. "I 'ave been in a daze. I am just beginning to realize I'm here. But home is home."

Ada will leave something behind her, take something with her when she goes—a fair and fine exchange in human understanding between ordinary people working in peace.

2 Area Men Hurt; Nine Die In Ohio

Car Overturns On Ashland Hill

Two Mansfield area youths escaped serious injury early today when the car in which they were riding rolled over twice while headed down Ashland hill.

Five Cited After Raid Deny Liquor Charges

Five persons arrested in a police raid early Saturday in a reputed house of ill fame at 255½ North Main street were arraigned in municipal court today for violation of state liquor laws and all five entered pleas of innocent.

The two women and three men were arrested for a second time Saturday a few hours after they had been released on bond after entering pleas of innocent to charges filed by police in Saturday morning's court session.

Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler continued the cases to April 7, the date set for hearings of all 58 persons arrested in the surprise police raid.

Silas Brooks, 49, of 289 Orange street, freed on $2,000 bond Saturday after pleading innocent to a charge of operating a house of ill fame, was charged later with keeping a place where intoxicating liquors were sold without a state license. Bond was set at $500 after he entered a plea of innocent.

BOND SET AT $500

Ben Williams, 31, of 97 East Sixth street, freed Saturday on $2,000 bond after pleading innocent to keeping a house of ill fame, also was charged with the ilegal sale of intoxicating liquor and bond set at $500.

Evelyn Lawson, 24, of 253 North Diamond street, and Lee Mantel Bridges, 28, of 216½ North Main street, pleaded innocent to charges of the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor in court today. Bond was set at $500 each. They were freed Saturday on $500 bonds after they had pleaded innocent to charges of aiding and abetting prostitution.

Jean Johnson, of Cleveland, charged with prostitution Saturday and released on $500 bond, was arraigned today on an illegal sale of intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Emma Berry, 87 widow of Adam Berry, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Brickley, 221 East Arch street, following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Berry was born Sept. 28, 1861, near Butler, and had spent her entire life in this area. She was a member of the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church.

Surviving are two sons, Fred J. of Mansfield, and Don L. of Beloit, Wis.; three daughters, Mrs. Brickley, with whom she made her home; Mrs. Sam Hildebrand of Johnsville, and Mrs. Doris Robinson of Mansfield; 21 grandchildren; 44 great grandchildren; and 10 great great grandchildren.

Rev. Willard J. Shawk pastor of the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church, will conducted services at the Wappner funeral home at 3 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Shoes and Coat Reported Stolen

Theft of $75 worth of men's clothing form the auto of Emerson Lewis of Shelby, was reported to sheriff's deputies late Saturday.

Lewis said he parked his car at the Richland Recreation and that he found a grey top coat, valued at $60, and a pair of shoes valued at $15, missing when he returned to the car at 11 p. m.

MARKS A BIRTHDAY—

They had it all fixed at the St. Paul Lutheran church yesterday morning for a personal tribute to J. P. Arras, who was 86 years old Sunday. The flowers on the altar had been given by his daughter, Miss Estella Arras, and Rev. John G. Gensel, pastor, had prepared a special talk in honor of Mr. Arras. But the honored guest decided he didn't care for "all that fuss", so he didn't show up at services. However, the tribute went ahead anyway. Church members learned that Mr. Arras has been a member of the church under 13 pastors. Rev. Gensel is the 13th but declares he's not superstitious. Yesterday Mr. Arras celebrated his birthday quietly at his home 641 Springmill street.

SPRING SHOW

Spring presented one of her best shows over the week end. The balmy temperatures and heavy showers made the grass green almost over night. The angle worms came out of the ground to leave wavy trails in the mud. Buds on decorative shrubs and fruit trees grew large and will burst into flowers or leaves with a few more days of warm weather.

HOUSE BUILDERS —

After reading stories about English villages and the English countryside, third-grade pupils at Newman school decided to make their own illustrations. The result is a cardboard and paper model of an English village on display at the Mansfield Public Libery. The work was done by pupils of Miss Marie Hoover at Newman school.

There are two white cottages, box hedges, paper flowers, trees, a bird bath, and even an English bus complete with outside stairway. All of the materials, including straw for the thatched roofs, was brought in by the pupils. The children found this such an interesting way of learning they are now planning to make a small model of an airport.

Takes Wine, Sardines, Gets 10 Days

A Mansfield, R. D. 1, housewife started a 10-day sentence in county jail today for shoplifting a bottle of wine and a can of sardines from the Frankie Mitsch corner store, 417 Orange street.

Charged with petit larceny by Mitsch, Mrs. Margaret Kruso, 48, pleaded guilty to the charge before Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler. Mitsch said he caught the woman leaving the store with the merchandise shortly after 4 p. m. Sunday.

Her bill for the "groceries" would have been 98 cents.

Judge Schettler, who added cost of the hearing to the jail sentence, said he was making a practice of giving sentences instead of fines in petit larceny and shoplifting cases.

Firemen Called

Firemen from Central and No. 3 stations answered a call to Stone's Grill, 19 North Park street at 7.25 a. m. today. Firemen said hot grease had caught fire on the restaurant range and there was smoke damage.

Outlines 6-Point Program

Would Change OSR Status

A six-point plan to strengthen Ohio's prison program, including conversion of Mansfield reformatory into a semi-security penitentiary for the "more hopeful prisoners," was offered today by Arthur L. Glattke, state commissioner of corrections.

Glattke, former superintendent of the reformatory, mapped his plan in a talk before the second annual institute of the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury association in Cleveland.

He said revision of Ohio's penal code and construction of additional facilities would permit the state to develop a stronger system of prisoner classification and segregation.

Commissioner Glattke's six-point program called for:

1. Revision of the Ohio penal code which would remove from courts responsibility of determining the penal institution to which an offender is sentenced. Courts would commit directly to the state welfare department.

2. Establishment of a receiving center where all penal offenders would be examined and classified.

3. Construction of additional facilities at the Lima State hospital to house all psychopathic personality and defective delinquent offenders.

4. Use of Ohio penitentiary as a possible classification center and also for confinement only of the tougher and hopeless offenders.

5. Conversion of Ohio State reformatory at Mansfield into a semi-security penitentiary for the more hopeful offender.

6. Construction of a new open style reformatory.

FACILITIES NEEDED

The state commissioner of corrections said that revision of our present prison laws was contingent upon the procurement of more facilities if a real classification system was to be established in Ohio.

Under Glattke's plan, when sufficient and proper facilities were made available, offenders would all be sent to a central receiving center. At the center, physical, mental and occupational tests would be conducted to determine assignment to the proper institution best fitted to treat and rehabilitate the offender.

Commissioner Glattke termed the plan "nothing startling or new, but a program from which we can start in consideration of what we already have in the way of prison facilities in Ohio.

"The only startling factor about the program, which would strengthen classification and segregation, is that Ohio has not already brought about these reforms and joined the ranks of progressive states in developing a coordinated prison plan," said Glattke.

The commissioner told the institute that both Gov. Lausche and State Welfare Director J. H. Lamneck had approved development of the prison program to provide new facilities which would permit better classification, segregation and training of prisoners.

Sunday in his home at 1207 Reid street after an illness of five months. Mr. Markley had lived here 45 years and observed his 61st wedding anniversary on Nov. 2.

His widow, Mary, survives as do two sons, Elmer E. of Plymouth and Allan of Washington, D. C.; a daughter, Mrs. Ferris Lockhart of Crestline, and a sister, Mrs. Melissa Pocock of Johnsville. Rites will be at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the First Baptist church with Rev. James Thomas, pastor and Rev. Robert Hughes officiating. Burial will be in Chesterville cemetery. Friends may call tonight at the Lutz funeral home here.

City Firemen Offer Help In Burning Off Vacant Lots

There's no better sign that warm weather is here than the fire chief's warning about grass fires.

Chief L. J. Steele said today the fire department will burn off a field for any resident of Mansfield free of charge and avoid all possible trouble.

This service is available to residents who live within the corporation limits of Mansfield, the chief said.

Any person who has a lot he wants burned off should call the fire department, the chief said.

He pointed out that fire will clean weeds and rubbish off a vacant lot. but the blaze can easily get out of control, especially on a windy day, and spread to buildings or fences.

Firemen make many runs every spring to control fires that started with a small bonfire.

Wildlife enthusiasts frown on the practice of burning off fields in the spring or summer. They explain that many birds' nests and small animals are burned in the fire and wildlife refuges are destroyed needlessly.

Kentucky Basketball Club Wins Second NCAA Crown

SEATTLE—(AP)—Alex Groza—basketball's magic mountain—and his spellbinding Kentucky teammates worked their sorcery on Oklahoma A. & M. as they captured their second straight NCAA championship Saturday.

Before an overflow crowd of 12,500 at the University of Washington's Edmundson pavilion, Coach Adolph Rupp's hoopsters outgalloped and outshot the valiant Aggies, 46-36.

Eerlier in the evening, hard-driving Illinois mounted a powerful late-game surge to edge Oregon State College, 57-53, and snatch third place in the tournament.

In the keenly awaited clash between offense and defense, Coach Henry Iba's gifted shackle-makers were able to fit handcuffs for all the Wildcats but Groza. The 6-foot-7-inch center rammed in 25 points before fouling out five minutes before the final gun.

Groze cracked three NCAA scoring records before taking his final canter to the bench and was voted by attending sports-writers the most valuable man in the playoffs.

His three-game totals of 82 points, 31 field goals and 20 foul points all set new standards. The old marks 76 points and 30 field goals were set by Bob Kurland, Oklahoma A. & M., in 1945, and the former record of 18 foul points by Jack Underman, Ohio State, in 1946.

Minnesota Team Wins Big Nine Gymnastics

ANN ARBOR, Mich., — (AP) — New champions were crowned in five of seven events here Saturday as Minnesota eked out a 52-51 victory over Illinois in the big nine gymnastics meet.

It was Minnesota's sixth conference title and third in a row. It established the gophers as the leading gym power in the big nine.

Basketball Rules Changes Forecast In 2 Minute Deal

SEATTLE — (AP) — Changes in the two-minute-rule were forecast by an official of the national basketball rules committee at the close of its opening session late last night.

H. V. Porter, committee secretary, said action will be taken at today's final meeting.

He said action is to be taken on the definition of "holding the ball from play" to attempt to give the trailing team assistance in breaking up stalling maneuvers, and on a rule to make it "unprofitable" for a team to foul deliberately in the last few — probably the last two — minutes.

Porter said this action was taken last night:

1 — No substitute will be allowed for a jumper after a held ball has been called.

2 — Colors on rim and ring braces will be painted bright orange. The rectangular "target" and three-inch border will be white.

3 — Effective the 1950-51 season, the official ball will be the moulded type — without seams or laces. Lapse to permit using up old style balls.

4 — Glass backboards madatory for college play.

First Place Spots Shift In Head Pin

New leaders appeared in all but the Class A divisions of the News-Journal Head Pin tournament yesterday as 32 more bowlers took part. Fourteen rolled in the opening session Saturday.

Best score of the day was a 308 by Dick Treisch which gave him the leadership in Class B. Ralph Miles and Harold Frontz were not far behind with 307. Treisch and Frontz missed the head pin only once and Miles missed not at all.

Other "B" scores included a 298 by Earl Lucas, 288 by Leroy Cleckner, 269 by Ray Workman, 257 by Ralph Miles and 232 by Andy Callahan.

FAR DOWN LIST

Three men competed in Class A and all failed to touch Cliff Forsythe's 318 of Saturday night. Harold Biles hit 299, Dale McCullough 290 and Fritz Schnittke turned in the worst "A" score of the tournament, 187. Schnittke missed the head pin eight straight times in his third game.

Heaviest firing was in Class C where Kent Beam emerged the leader with a 298 pin count. He struck 19 times in the three games but missed the head pin on four occasions. Dale DeWeese got a 282 and Gene Beveridge 266.

Other "C" scores were: Joe Callender, 235; Merle Leedy, 181; Ernie Burkett, 286; Jack Maurer, 225; George McKinley, 260 and 249; Charles Hennond, 189 and 165; Al Karbula, 213; C. K. Tucker, 223; Max Keefer, 247; Dave Moysi, 253; and Jerry Wehinger, 250.

DYE'S SCORE HOLDS

Marty Dye's 273 of Saturday night stood up in Women's Class A as only two entries were made in that class. Billie Cleckner tossed 214 and Anetia Burkett, 148.

Hon Wehinger took over the "B" lead with 271. Kay Stirtzinger had 218 for the only other score rolled in that class.

Three women rolled in Class C with Margie Beveridge taking the lead with 246. Julia Jerger had 219 and Betty Wehinger 194.

Ring Battle Investigation

NEW YORK — (INS) — The Madison Square Garden bout between Jake La Motta of New York and Robert Villemain of France will be investigated by the New York Athletic Commission at a closed meeting today.

Commission chairman Eddie Eagan will inquire into the circumstances last Friday that caused referee Harry Ebbets and Judge Harold Barnes to vote for LaMotta, giving him a split dicision that was highly unpopular with spectators and boxing writers alike.

Eagan also may talk to Judge Charley Shortell, who voted Villemain the winner by a wide margin.

Portsmouth Five Wins Legion Cage Crown

COLUMBUS — (AP) — James Dickey post No. 23 of Portsmouth will represent Ohio in the National American Legion Invitational cage tourney this week at Beaver Falls, Pa.

The Portsmouth crew captured the state title at Circleville Saturday by defeating East Liverpool, 72-54, in the title game.

Indians Notch Pair Of Sunday Games

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — (INS) — Manager Lou Boudreau, more confident than ever that he has the best pitching staff in baseball, sent Lyman Linde and Will Hafey to the mound today against the San Diego Padres.

Linde and Hafey, two Cleveland Indian rookies, will be well satisfied if they have as much success as six Tribe moundsmen had over the week-end.

It is entirely possible that the rookie who turns in the best performance will stay with the Redskins in 1949. Boudreau probably will keep one of the two, but not both.

While the Indians' "A" squad is playing the Padres today in San Diego, the "B" team will be in Tucson, Ariz., where it will meet the Chicago Cubs tomorrow afternoon. Six games are scheduled in Tucson before the Tribe breaks camp and heads east.

West coast competition seems to agree with the world champions in view of three victories over the week-end. They trounced Oakland, 14-4, behind the pitching of Bob Lemon and Frank Papish Saturday, then took two games Sunday, one from Oakland, 1-0, and the other from San Francisco, 4-2.

HURL SHUTOUT

Lefty Gene Bearden and Early Wynn did the chucking in the shutout. Southpaw Bearden allowed two hits in the first five innings, while Wynn, who was acquired from Washington, limited the Oaks to three bingles over the remaining distance.

Bob Feller, who has a good chance to be on the hill when the umpire yells "Play ball" on April 19, and Satchell Paige, the ancient Alabaman, pitched the second contest. Feller was tagged for five hits in the first five games, while Paige was nicked for only two bingles in as many innings.

In the morning tilt with the Oaks, Dale Mitchell put the game on ice with a home run in the third inning, the Tribe's lone tally. Four Oakland pitchers limited the Indians to six hits.

In the afternoon game, played to an overflow crowd of 22,852 spectators at the Seals' stadium, Feller gave up the only runs scored by the Friscans in the third. Two hits, combined with an error, sent the pair of tallies across the plate, tying the score at two all.

The score remained deadlocked until the eighth when three hits—a double by Joe Gordon, a single by Larry Doby and a double by Ken Keltner—accounted for a couple of scores.

GETS TWO HITS

Mike Tresh, second string catcher, was the only Tribesman to collect more than one bingle in the morning game. He hit safely twice.

Three Cleveland batters twice hit safely in the second contest, however. Gordon, Keltner and Doby each collected a pair of hits.

Manager Boudreau's batting average has fallen off somewhat in the last few days. He was hitting .572 when he came to San Francisco three days ago, but he was able to get only two hits in 12 times at bat in the last three games. He is now batting a mere .424.

Giants Fall Back . . .

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — The home run conscious New York Giants today were slightly behind their homer pace of last spring. At this time a year ago the Giants had slugged 19 homers.

So far they have hit 12 including yesterday's trio in their 8-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Sid Gordon accounted for two and Johnny Mize the other. Mize's clout was his first of the year.

A's Add Pair . . .

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UP) — With their two victorious squads rejoined—plus two new players—the Philadelphia Athletics were set to play host today to the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League.

The new players were veteran infielder Gil Torres, a former Washington Senator, and 18-year-old Luis Garcia, a semi-pro outfielder. Both were picked up by the A's "A" squad which climaxed a brief Cuban tour yesterday by beating the Havana Cubans, 5 to 3.

Meanwhile, the A's "B" squad had Dick Fowler pitch a complete three-hitter to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 1. Tod Davis, with three hits including two doubles, drove in two A's runs and scored the third.

Blackie Throws . . .

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — Ewell Blackwell took the wraps off his pitching arm yesterday for the first time in the Cincinnati Reds' spring training. And he reported the result encouraging.

"I made no effort to put much on the ball," he said. "merely concentrated on getting it over for the fellows to hit. The most pleasing thing to me was that I felt no pain, either in my right shoulder or the small of my back where the incision was made to remove my left kidney. I'm sure that I will be able to take my regular pitching turn much sooner than most people think."

It was an ailing shoulder that ruined Blackwell's effectiveness last year after he had compiled an outstanding hurling record in 1947.

Blackwell's teammates also had their hitting togs on yesterday as they slaughtered the Boston Braves, 13 to 4 with a barrage of 14 hits that included a double by Lloyd Merriman and a 387-foot home run by Ted Kluszewski.

Picks 5 Rookies . . .

VERO BEACH, Fla. — (UP) — Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooklyn Dodgers today handpicked five of his brightest rookies to accompany the varsity on an exhibition swing through Texas.

Named to make the trip, and apparently with a good chance to make the team, were pitchers Jack Banta and Clarence Podbelian from Montreal, pitcher Morris Martin from St. Paul, first-baseman Dee Fondy from Fort Worth, and outfielder Cal Abrams from St. Paul.

Only four regulars will be left behind—Pitcher Preacher Roe, who is averse to flying; pitcher Elmer Sexauer, who has a sore arm, and outfielders Marv Rackley and George Shuba.

Despite their 3 to 1 loss to the Philadelphia A's "B" team yesterday, the Dodgers were cheered by the showing of Pitcher Rex Barney. Previously futile this spring, Barney went the route and pitched a five-hitter, losing because Dick Fowler hurled a three-hitter for the A's.

Ohio State Wins NCAA Swim Title

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—(AP) Ohio State's powerhouse swimming team today wrote in a national title on their record book for the 1949 campaign.

The Big Nine champions breezed in with the team title in the 26th annual championships of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Ohio State captured 49 points in the three-day swim carnival which came to a close here Saturday night. Iowa was second with 35 points. Defending champion Michigan was third with 32.

Coach Mike Peppe's new champions had a pair of double-winners—Bill Smith in the 220 and 440 freestyle, which he also won last year, and Bruce Harlan, one-meter and three-meter diving. Harlan was defending low-board champion.

Smith, in winning the 440, set one of three new records which came out of the meet. His time of 2:08.5 knocked out the NCAA mark of 2:09.1 hung up by George Hooderhyde of Michigan State in a trial heat last year.

Lee Sala Choice In Cleveland Go

CLEVELAND— (INS)— Cleveland oddsmakers were in favor of Lee Sala today as the Donora, Pa., slugger prepped for his 10-round battle with Brooklyn's Georgie Small tonight at the arena.

Sala, one of the most talked-about middleweights in the game, has won 52 of his last 53 fights. He avenged his only loss in a return match.

Spring Drills Bring Optimism to State Fans

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Spring football practice gets underway at Ohio State tomorrow and there are reasons for the early season optimism and premature hopes for a conference championship that prevail long before the autumn madness hits Columbus—the nation's dizziest football town.

Skipper Wes Fesler, starting his third trip around, may try hard to manipulate the potentialities of his 1949 squad, but it's cinch rebuilding won't be difficult. Besides, Ohio State boasts one of the greatest bunch of sophomore finds in scarlet and gray annals.

This is Fesler's first chance to assemble a team he can really call his own. Returning lettermen are steeped in Fesler's intricate style of play and general improvement was evident throughout the '48 campaign.

Fesler can also groom his sophmore stars slowly, ready to take over when needed. Ohio State has that rare balance of veterans and newcomers that has Buckeye fans smelling "tournament roses."

Key figure in the Buckeye's plans is Jerry Krall, breakaway tailback of last season. Fesler contemplates shifting Krall to fullback to utilize his ability as a speedster. He figures it this way. If the forward wall gives Krall the "daylight" they did for jittin' Joe Whisler, Krall can go all the way.

That leaves tailback wide open for Vic Janowicz, Elyria's wonder boy, who Fesler first figured to switch to wingback because the departure of Alex Verdova and Mike Cannavino left a gaping hole there.

Bob Demmel, three-year veteran right half, can also carry the mail but isn't much of a blocker. The Buckeye coach may find his all-purpose performer from among Canton McKinley's Bill Wetzle, Cleveland Latin's Earl Gentile or Columbus' Bob Morris.

Park Blubaugh, outstanding prospect of two seasons ago, underwent a successful operation, and is a cinch to see service at a halfback slot.

Ohio State could stand pat at tailback where Jimmy Clark, Rod Swinehart, Dick Slager and Kari Sturtz all showed well. However, Fesler wants a triple threater of Janowicz's calibre at left half. Sophomores Ray Hamilton and Al Chiapinni's reputation as passers give them extra consideration.

Pan Savic has the signal calling assignment cinched. Fesler rates him one of the conference's best. Bucky Wertz's linebacking ability has prompted Fesler to shift Pete Perini, double-duty punter and linebacker, to fullback. Cleveland's Bill Peterson, Don Cox and Al Hodous will be groomed slowly to spell Savic's relief.

At the terminals the Bucks possess pass-catchers in Sonny Gandee and Urbana's Tommy Watson. Jimmy Hague proved himself a rock-ribbed defender and a fine place-kicker. Pressing for a berth are Walt Klevay, Independence speed demon, Lorain's Dick Pfiel and Portsmouth's Dick Anderson.

Capt. Jack Wilson and Dick O'Hanlon are slated to handle the tackle assignments, but they will have opposition from junior Bill Trautwen, and such newcomers as Massillon's Julius Whittman, Elyria's Howard Shuster and Mansfield's Dick Logan.

George Toneff and George Mattey have the inside track at the guards. Fesler rates Carroll Smith, Sebring, a candidate for a starting position. Pressing closely is all-Ohioan Thor Ronemus, Springfield. Paul Phael of, Piqua, also rates.

At center, veteran Jack Lininger returns for another season. Bob McCullough moves up from the JV's and Fremont Ross' Bob Heid adds insurance.

Hamilton Goes Wild Celebrating Victory

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With the big basketball championships out of the way, Ohio's thousands of high school athletes settled down today to spring football, baseball, track, tennis and golf.

The cage crowns, awarded in Saturday's thrilling finals at the state fairgrounds coliseum, adorned worthy brows.

The Class A laurels went to Hamilton Public's Big Blue as the Butler countians shattered all tournament records with a 70-52 win over Toledo Central Catholic's undermanned quintet. Delphos St. John became the fourth parochial team to win the Class B championship as the Blue Jays upset favored Lockland Wayne 47 to 43.

JUMPING JOINT

Delphos took its first championship in stride, the Lenten season ruling out any celebration for the Catholic visitors, but down at Hamilton the "joint was jumping."

Some 50,000 fans lined the highways and byways as 28-year-old Coach Warren Scholler brought home his terrific and triumphant team. At the edge of town each of the 12 players was placed in a separate auto and driven through the city as the folk cheered loud and long.

Even neighboring Middletown, most beloved foe of the Big Blue, joined the merry-making with Supt. Russell Baker and Athletic Director Elmo Lingrel as official representatives of the Middies.

All of Butler county had reason to celebrate, too. This marked the sixth straight year that county has had a representative in the state Class A finals.

GOES ALL WAY

Middletown won the title in 1944, 1946 and 1947, but lost a two-pointer to Harry Strobel's Bellevue team in 1945. Last year Hamilton Catholic reached the payoff game, but lost to Findlay. This time Hamilton Public, under a first-year coach who played with Hamilton's last champion in 1937, went all the way.

Hamilton's 70-point splurge against Toledo Central, and its 29-point second quarter, were both tournament Class A records. Toledo Central had set new marks just the night before as it scored 65 points, with a 26-point period, against Akron St. Vincent in the semifinals.

Delphos, in upsetting two once-defeated teams—New Lexington and Lockland Wayne's all-Negro powerhouse, saw three of its members named to the all-tournament honorary team.

The Class B first team, named by press and radio representatives, was made up of Bo Moore and Leo Bennett of Lockland, and Dick Honingford, Ralph Wagner and Dave Schmelzer of Delphos. On the second team were Elmer Bolds of Lockland, Tom Brennan of Delphos, Bill Wollenberg of New Lexington, and Bill Fye and George Hamilton of North Canton.

In Class A the honorary teams were: Bill Wilks and Gene Baldwin of Hamilton; Jerry McCloskey and Gene Hickey of Toledo Central, and Leo Longville of Akron St. Vincent; with the second team made up of Dick McCloskey of Toledo, John Weber of Niles McKinley, and Jim Bailey, Bernie Griesinger and Joe Okruhlica of Hamilton Public.

The tournament attendance of 39,723 for six one-game sessions set a new record, erasing the mark of 38,129 set a year ago.

Hank Iba Named 'Coach of Year'

NEW YORK — (AP) — Hank Iba, whose defensive basketball strategy isn't always appreciated by the eastern press, has been named coach of the year by the New York basketball writers.

Iba polled 77 votes to 74 for young Pete Newell, whose underdog San Francisco Dons swept to the National Ivitational title. Adolph Rupp of Kentucky's NCAA champions was third in the balloting with 22 votes.

Old Cy Young Given Early Birthday Fete

NEWCOMERSTOWN — (AP) — Cy Young, the old baseball immortal, will be 2 tomorrow, but he's already had his birthday party.

About 200 neighbors and fans met on a nearby farm yesterday to pay tribute to "old Tuscarawas," the name he picked up in his 28 years in the Major leagues.

Young, the first player named to baseball's hall of fame, now lives on his farm. He does his own chores too, arising at 6 each morning.

He said he spent Saturday chopping wook for his stove.

CAN'T MILK COWS

Except for his inability to milk a cow, Young considers himself a pretty good farmer. "But I never learned to milk a cow and I don't expect to now," he explains.

Young believes umpires today have it much easier than in his day. He tells a good story to illustrate his point:

. "I can remember one day when John McGraw was on first base and the batter hit a roller to the infield. The one umpire we had dashed to first and called the runner out. But when he looked around he saw McGraw standing on third base.

"McGraw had run diagonally across the field without touching second base. But since the umpire didn't see it, he couldn't call him on it."

Cy, who pitched for Cleveland before the turn of the century, won 511 games, including three no-hitters, during his stay in the Majors. The mark has never been approached.

He had 36 victories in 192 and 34 the next spring.

No Game Today . . .

SARASOTA, Fla. — (AP) The Boston Red Sox have no citrus circuit game scheduled today but Manager Joe McCarthy plans to send the tean through a brushup drill on fundamentals and base coverings.

Vern Stephens' sore left thumb is improved, but the chunky short-stop probably won't play until Wednesday's game with Detroit.

Pitcher Mel Parnell was struck on the ankle yesterday by a liner off the bat of rookie Walt Dropo. The injury was painful, but not serious.

Joe Won't Play . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (UP) — Joe Dimaggio won't be in the lineup when the New York Yankees tangle with the Philadelphia Phils today but he may be ready to play on Wednesday.

The famed "Yankee clipper" said yesterday he will give his ailing heel another test when the Yanks clash with the Cincinnati Reds. He pinch-hit only a flyball out against the St. Louis Cards yesterday as the Yanks were blanked, 1 to 0.

Under $10,000

Ideal Opportunity

Believe it or not, two of the best offerings we have had for some time. Ohio Street: Two story frame, with living room, dining room, modern kitchen and sun room, on the first floor. Two bedrooms and full bath up. Shower and laundry tubs in the basement, good coal furnace, full lot located close to bus stop. Priced below $7500, $2000 cash will swing a deal.

Poplar Street: 6 room frame, floored attic, full cement basement, new gas furnace, new roof. Full lot, garage for 2 car garage, located close to Glessner Ave., bus stop. Priced at only $9500.

The above described properties are both outstanding values, whether you are looking for a home to move into, or as an investment, as either will net better than 7% as rental property.
Here is your chance—we say don't delay.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Joy of Spring Reflected In New Books For Children

By Library Staff Member

SPRING IS HERE It really is and that is the name of one of the new books for young readers. It tells about the birds that come in the spring, about the flowers that bloom There is a good picture of the sky with the spring stars In the front and the back there is a picture dictionary that will help you learn the new words

At long last the library has a complete set of all the Beatrix Potter books. These are the original tiny size books with beautiful illustrations and the delightful stories that have amused children for generations.

The new books, in some cases new copies, are TALE OF TIMMY TIPTOES, TALE OF TOM KITTEN, PETER RABBIT, JOHNNY TOWN - MOUSE, TALE OF MR TOD, PIE AND THE PATTY PAN. TALE OF PIGLING BLAND and ROLY-POLY PUDDING

Still in the Lenten mood is TELL ME ABOUT PRAYER, by Mary Alice Jones. This is in the same series as "Tell Me about God" and "Tell Me About Jesus". There is a chapter on why we pray, one on how to pray and several on what to pray for and how to feel about prayer. There are several prayers, both familiar and unfamiliar, included This should be very good for home reading or for Sunday school classes.

IN BIBLE DAYS, by Gertrude Hartman, is a re-telling of some of the old Bible stories for older children. Included with the stories is historical background used to fill in the details

TELLS WEATHER STORY

PICTURE BOOK OF THE WEATHER, by Jerome Meyer, is a well-written discussion of a subject that affects us all A great many things help to decide the weather, and the weather man has to do a lot more than look at the sky and listen to the train whistle if he is to be a good forecaster. This book, intended for children around the sixth grade, gives a clear, simple explanation of what makes most kinds of weather Many adults would find it profitable reading.

New this week is a whole series of music books. This series runs from the first through the sixth grades with songs galore in each one They might be useful at school or for home or just "singing for fun".

This kind of weather makes boys and girls start planning outside games, hikes, and camping trips. So this is the week to introduce David, Dit, Winkie and Alan Guthrie and their INVISIBLE ISLAND. They were all city children, and great readers so they knew all about islands and pirates and things like that.

Imagine their surprise and joy when their new country home had an island, and one so made that is was practically invisible. Their adventures on the island, the cave, the mystery, as told by Dean Marshall will give many hours of enjoyment, and maybe send you out looking for an island.

The last books on this week's list are somewhat similar Both are about dogs and both are stories in which the dog takes an unexpected trip That is almost the name of one of them, UNEXPECTED JOURNEY, by Dorothy Hogner It is the story of Topper It begins when Topper is in Europe with the American army as a messenger dog. Then it goes back to his birth, and tells the story of his puppyhood and of the day his master left and Topper chased him and was lost It tells of the many people who owned him, how he joined the Army and finally comes back to where it began and brings Topper through the war and back to a life of peace

WHITE BOOTS, by Helen Watson, is the story of a dog who stowed away on a ship when his master went to Puerto Rico. It tells how they became separated and how Boots traveled all over the island, from owner to owner, until he came home at last

Demand For Steel Lags

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Steel salesmen already have encountered serious sales resistance, and by June that resistance may be much stiffer, the Magazine Steel reported today.

"Buyers are highly inventory-conscious and are limiting orders," the Magazine said in its weekly review. "Many of them —only recently franctic shoppers for tonnage—are not interested in mill offerings"

"Predictions now are freely made the supply-demand balance will be struck in many of the major steel products before the end of the second quarter.

Franco Still Firmly In Saddle, Hopes To Stay There

Opponents Unable To Organize

Spain Full of Hunger, Unrest

By H. EDWARD KNOBLAUGH

NEW YORK — (INS) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco is still firmly in the Spanish saddle and there is no immediate prospect of his resignation or overthrow.

That is the answer I have given to dozens of questioners who have asked me since my return to the United States: "What about Franco? Is he there to stay?"

My observations over the past four years during which I have been covering Spanish politics, buttressed by five years of journalistic experience in Spain before and during the disastrous Spanish Civil war, might be summarized as follows:

(1) Franco appears to like his post as chief of the Spanish state and apparently is determined to hold onto it as long as he can. There is no indication at present that he intends to give up his job voluntarily in favor of a king or anybody else, but Franco has left the way open for the restoration should some unexpected crisis arise.

(2) Although there is considerable unrest in Spain, it does not seem probable that this could crystallize into successful revolt under present circumstances.

It is the belief of expert neutral observers now in Spain that most anti-Franco dissatisfaction is based on economic rather than political grounds. Maladministration by Franco's vertical labor syndicates has long been under attack.

There is much hunger and misery in Spain, but the victims of distress lack organization, leadership and arms necessary for revolt.

(3) Franco is undeniably a shrewd and clever ruler, if not precisely a statesman, and he knows his people. This has been demonstrated time and again when he has answered foreign pressure by adroitly appealing to Spanish pride and caused even his enemies to rally against outside intervention.

(4) There does not seem to be a single personage on the Spanish political horizon today who could be expected to fill Franco's shoes successfully if he should suddenly resign or be forced out. That in my opinion, includes Indalecio Prieto, the exiled socialist leader, and Pretender Don Juan, around whom speculation has chiefly centered.

This is due to the fact that the Franco opposition, embracing Republicans, Socialists, Monarchists, Anarchists and Communists, has never, despite many reports to the contrary, been able to organize a strong and united front against the Caudillo during the ten years since the Civil war ended.

Bickerings on the policies to be followed by some Franco successor have kept the opposition disorganized and disunited. Franco has cleverly played one faction against another to keep them that way.

The Generalissimo in addition to being clever and a skilled opportunist, has unquestionably had lady luck at his side during the last few years. Each time that it has appeared he was being forced into an untenable position, a fortunate "break" has occurred to rescue him from a perilous corner.

Currently working to Franco's advantage is the increasing friction between east and west. The "cold war" has led the United States and Great Britain to reconsider their former strong opposition to Franco in view of his anti-communist stand and the strategic position Spain would occupy in any outbreak of hostilities in Europe.

Military considerations may, during the forthcoming United Nations assembly meeting lead to a reversal of the 1946 decision whereby ambassadors were withdrawn from Madrid. Argentina ignored that decision from the start and many other members of the UN have subsequently disregarded the agreement.

It is reliably reported that the United States already has decided to send an ambassador to Spain to take the place of charge d'Affaires Paul T. Culbertson. Great Britain, despite strong labor party opposition is said to be ready to follow suit. It is expected that motion for the repealer will be made by some Latin-American countries favorable to Franco.

Offers Park For Sale

The old Casino park property which connects two parcels of city-owned property at North Lake park is being offered for sale by Charles Gorman, 250 Westbrook avenue.

Hamilton realty, agent for the sale, said Gorman is asking $19,000 for the seven and seven-eighths acres which contain a swimming pool, shooting gallery, snack bar, and custard stand.

However, Gorman will reduce the price to $17,000 if the city or any person wishing to donate the property to the city purchases it, Hamilton said.

Although the property is directly adjacent to the main part of North Lake park, it always has been privately owned.

However, it has been reported several persons are interested in securing the property for the city.

The smaller piece of property beyond the swimming pool was donated to the city a number of years ago. It formerly was used for a baseball diamond, but has not been used recently, according to Frank Gillingham, president of North Lake Park association.

Parks Group Plans Tourney

Plans for a contract bridge tournament will be made at the regular meeting of the Prospect park association tonight. The meeting will be held at the park pavilion at 8 p. m.

Anyone interested in the tournament may attend the meeting, P. G. Renie, president of the association, said today.

Tuesday at 8 p. m. the second in a series of get-acquainted parties will be held at the park pavilion. There will be cards and other entertainment, followed by refreshments. The party is open to the public.

RICHARD F. KUNKEL

LOUDONVILLE — Richard F. Kunkel, 26, Navy veteran of World War II, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kunkel, local residents, died Saturday evening in Crile Veterans' hospital in Cleveland where he had been a patient for the past two months.

In addition to his parents Mr. Kunkel is survived by his widow, Anna Mae; a son, Ronald; sister, Mrs. Dean Beans of Loudonville, and his grandmother, Mrs. Gordon Miller of Ashland. Services will be at 2 p. m. Tuesday from the Banks funeral home here with Rev. S. P. Ozmun, pastor of the Loudonville Methodist church, officiating. Rev. Thomas Cromwell, former pastor here, will assist.

Military gravesides rites will be conducted in Loudonville cemetery by Loudon Post No. 257, American Legion.

Four Fined In Sales Tax Cases

Fifth Forfeits His $25 Bond

Four persons entered pleas of guilty to sales tax violations when they appeared in municipal court today and were fined $5 and costs each by Judge H. H. Schettler. The fifth violator failed to appear in court and forfeited $25 bond.

State sales tax inspectors filed charges against the group Saturday.

Four of the five failed to charge any sales tax on taxable items, City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch, said. The fifth charged tax but failed to cancel a prepaid receipt.

Appearing in court were Orville Fry, employe at Shorts' Pool and Recreation, 31 East Fourth street; Beverly Grant, who failed to collect tax at Grant's grocery, 618 South Diamond street; Charles Clements, employe at a restaurant at 227 North Franklin avenue; and Ruth Hriesik, employe at Stone's Grill, 19 North Park street.

Harold D. Brumley, who was charged with failing to collect sales tax after a sale at Jack's Tavern, 98 East Sixth street, forfeited $25 bond when he failed to appear in court.

George W. Hostetter, Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined $75 and costs and his driving right was suspended for 60 days when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He was arrested by police at 1:45 a. m. Sunday after his car collided with another driven by Mike Morelli, 336 East Second street. The accident occurred at Sixth and Main streets.

Charged with unsafe operation and failure to have an operator's license, Luther Brock, 131 West Sixth street, pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $20 and costs.

Al J. Heilman, 32 West Augustine avenue, and Lewis Leon Snavely, 59 Western avenue, were fined $10 and costs each when they pleaded guilty to speeding.

School Board Votes to Invest Building Funds In U. S. Notes

The Mansfield board of education today voted to invest approximately one and a half million dollars in Series D, U. S. Treasury Savings notes.

The bonds pay a progressive rate of interest beginning at eight-tenths of one per cent for a four-month period. The bonds cannot be cashed before four months from month of issue.

The funds were obtained from the sale of bonds voted to construct new schools and modernize the city library. The funds were invested until they are needed for building purposes.

Bids for stage equipment for Roseland, Newman, West Fifth, and Rebecca Grubaugh schools were opened.

Four firms submitting bids were the Jenson Equipment company, Canton, the Pittsburgh Stage Equipment Studios, Pittsburgh; Beck Studios, Cincinnati, and Tiffin Scenic Studios Inc., Tiffin.

Lowest base bid submitted was by the Jenson company at $5,175. The others were $5,643 55 from the Pittsburgh firm, $6,290.45 by the Tiffin Scenic Studios, and $7, 120 by the Beck company.

The board will meet Friday noon to decide on the contract.

Crowds Hear Evangelist

There was standing room only at the evangelistic service at the Johnny Appleseed auditorium last night and scores were turned away, according to Rev. Charles L. Shook, general chairman.

In his talk on the theme, "Forty Minutes in the Devil's Workshop," Rev. Shuler, evangelist, declared, "God uses two motives to persuade people—the glories of heaven and the fear of hell. We all use the fear angle in every-day life. It is fear that puts lifeboats on the ocean liner, parachutes on the back of an air rider, fire escapes on a hotel, stop and go signs on our streets."

Sunday afternoon Rev. Shuler preached to a filled auditorium on the subject, "Gullible Suckers and Pulpit Saboteurs." He said the Apostle Paul contended that good works cannot save us and quoted the Bible to prove his point."

During both services, J. Stratton Shufelt sang several solos, Les Barnett played organ selections and the choir sang.

Tonight Rev. Shuler will preach on the theme, "The Only Peace the World Will Ever Know."

$200 Added To Red Cross Total

It was a typical Monday morning at Red Cross headquarters today where only $200 more trickled in to build up campaign funds.

This brought the total at noon today to $42,256.

Three more 100 percenters were added to the list—Dr. R. P Scott's office, Standard Oil company offices, and Voegele Brothers Coal company.

Reported Better

Philip Wolfe, 251 Marion avenue, former safety-service director and clerk of the county commissioners, was reported considerably better today following a serious illness. He is at his home.

Recreation Band's Rehearsal Changed

The Mansfield Recreation orchestra will rehearse at John Simpson auditorium Tuesday night instead of in Senior high auditorium.

The change, effective only tomorrow night, was announced today by Stanley Kamen, city recreation director. Rehearsal will be held at 7:30 p. m.

All following rehearsals will be at Senior high, Kamen said.

Native Bucyrian Garden Club Speaker

BUCYRUS—A talk by Dr. Paul B. Sears, native Bucyrian who is professor of botany at Oberlin college, will feature the monthly meeting of the Bucyrus Garden club at the King's Daughters' chapter house here tonight.

Dr. Sears is the author of several well known books on conservation and natural resources. He is a brother of J. D. Sears, local attorney.

A number of guests have been invited to the meeting over which Probate Judge Constance R. Keller, club president, will preside.

If your hands are too thin and bony, try massaging them with cocoa butter or peanut oil, both of which are excellent soothing agents according to a well-known Hollywood conditioning authority.

Speak On Tuesday

ASHLAND — Mrs. Gaylord Hall of Ashland county and Mrs. Ann Williams, executive secretary of the county Child welfare board, will be principal speakers at the Achievement day program Tuesday at the Methodist educational building. A hand-made rug exhibit will feature the all-day program, with pot-luck dinner to be served at noon.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Seed catalogs deserve high place among optimistic literature—making failure seem impossible.

It is now suggested that Kansas should start schools to teach folks how to drink hard liquor—but Ohio experience indicates that no specialized training is necessary.

One observer asks: "Who remembers way back when it seemed important to wonder what in the world the poor old armaments manufacturers would be making by 1949?"

More New Homes In Prospect Here

IT TAKES ONLY a drive around Mansfield's newly developed sections and suburban areas to provide convincing proof of this city's residential growth in recent years, and to inspire confidence that the existing housing shortage can be overcome if present prospects of additional building materialize.

While there has been a substantial increase in the number of housing units in city and suburbs during the past three years, the total has not kept pace with growing needs, because of population gains due to record industrial employment.

High cost of material and labor has also had a retarding effect on construction of moderate priced homes, and it is interesting to note an average cost of above $10,000 for those built in 1948, which is more than many would-be home owners could safely attempt to finance.

There will be continuing need for homes in the higher price brackets—$10,000 and upward—but as inflation subsides a return may be expected to construction of well-built homes ranging from $5,000 to $7,500—which is the financing limit of many prospective home-buyers.

Much of Mansfield's attractiveness in the past has come about through slow but substantial growth, with population made up of a high percentage of home owners, and it is this formula that still seems best designed to make this a desirable city in which to live, work and rear children.

World Wheat Plan Formulated

FORTY-TWO nations have signed a four-year wheat distribution agreement. As far as the United States is concerned, Senate ratification is required to make it effective.

The agreement fixes maximum and minimum prices for wheat sold in the international market for the four-year period, and sets import and export quotas. Thus the United States seems to be exporting its scheme of controlled production and prices for grain.

As judged by the success of its operation here, not everyone will agree that the scheme is ready for export, but the agreement is a general effort at co-operation, and that is hopeful.

Debate Value of Air Power In War

A BATTLE not likely to end soon is that between those who think that the last war was and that all future wars will be won in the air, and those who believe air power to be only one important weapon among several. A recent entry into this controversy is the British military writer, Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, who has just written a history of the war.

His view is that strategic bombing was costly nonsense, that sea power was the real clue to victory, and that the money and materials spent on long-range bombers should have been devoted to landing craft. Shortage of landing craft prevented a Continental invasion in 1943, says General Fuller.

For the emphasis on strategic bombing Fuller blames not only wrong advice in the army high command but also Winston Churchill, whom he calls "devastation minded, not strategically minded." He says that the first bombing of a civilian city was not done by Hitler, but by the British against the German city of Freiburg early in 1940.

Many will believe that if Hitler was not the one to start bombing civilians, it was only because he did not think of it first. Once started, he did plenty of it. But the question of who started civilian bombing is beside the point. The essential problem is how to avoid it in the event of a future war.

Gained Fame Despite Blindness

THE FAMOUS blind man of Oklahoma is no more.

Thomas P. Gore, the state's first senator, who served from 1907 to 1921 and again from 1931 to 1937, has just died in Washington at 78.

Blind most of his life, Senator Gore got along with the help of a devoted wife and a phenomenal memory. An isolationist, he was at odds, though a Democrat, with the Democratic presidents of his day. He opposed the League of Nations in Wilson's time, and was a thorn in Franklin Roosevelt's side. This lack of harmony with the administrations of his party accounted for his two election defeats.

Gore's second hitch in the Senate coincided in part with the term of the only other blind senator, Thomas D. Schall, a Republican from Minnesota. Schall proved too conservative for his state, and served only a short time.

What's in a name—when it turns out that in France the Radical Socialists are the "moderates"?

Glass Vs. Paper Milk Bottles

Editor News-Journal:

With very great interest I read the article concerning the eventual replacement in Mansfield of glass milk bottles by paper cartons.

I don't think that it is a good idea to force these cartons on the public, because some people like to see what they are buying and one can surely not see through cardboard. It would be all right to do as the dairies do in Cincinnati and that is to give the customer a choice between a glass bottle and a paper carton. The dairies there use both types of containers and all people are satisfied.

Another interesting fact concerning the use of paper milk cartons which I think should be called to the attention of the public is this: The carton does not hold full value. I have during the recent past purchased a very few cartons of milk. Because I don't like the taste of milk from one of these, I poured it out into a regular glass milk bottle on my arrival home. Each time I was amazed to see that the glass bottle lacked from an inch to two inches from the top of being full.

I don't think this was a coincidence because these purchases were made about two weeks apart. Maybe this can be explained by inability of the filling machines at the dairy to fill the bottle fully, or maybe the dairy worker has to guess as to when the bottle is full not being able to see as in the case of a glass bottle, or maybe it is impossible to get full measure because of the construction of cartons.

Yes, I have had a choice of either glass or paper containers and for the above reason I've stuck to glass containers for my milk, and I hope that I can continue to have this choice.

Favor Special Interests

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — During the last few days here in the nation's capital we have been treated to a discouraging public confession in Congress of weakness and inadequacy in American local government which, when pondered, is disturbing.

Whether accurate or justified, our city and state governments have been represented in debate or action, or both, as rather easy marks for special-interest lobbies. Nor has Congress, itself, shown up too well.

Issues involved were rent control, veterans' pensions and confirmation of Dr. James Boyd as director of the bureau of mines of the interior department which John L. Lewis fought so bitterly.

Why did champions of effective rent control try so vigorously to prevent return of jurisdiction to local authorities?

The answer came very bluntly from Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), himself formerly the mayor of a great American city, Minneapolis. After pointing out that the real-estate lobbies "really began to feel their strength" in 1947 and 1948, he told the Senate:

"I say in all reverence, may God pity the city councils and may God pity the mayors of all cities if the Fulbright amendment (for conditional return to local control) shall be agreed to. Rent control will become the plaything of local politics. Effective rent control can be destroyed by this amendment."

* * *

Confession of Weakness.

MAYORS from all over the country meeting here at the time in national conference bore him out by opposing return to local control.

What this seems to be is a confession that local governments can not, or will not, stand up for the general public interest against special interests.

That, of course, uas influential in the transfer of authority for some functions from city and state governments to the federal government in recent years, though in some other cases federal rather than local control was regarded as essential because of the growing complexity of our industrial civilization, in short, an adaptation to changing conditions.

All of this explanis why special interests resisted transfer of authority here, in the first instance, which was a running battle during the New Deal regime, and why they have constantly tried since to get functions transferred back to local authorities.

The latter could be approached and handled more easily. It explains also why special interests have set up elaborate and expensive headquarters here in recent years to bring pressure upon Congress and the federal government directly, as well as building fires back home locally.

It is a depressing commentary on the status of local government. There are problems that local governments could and should handle. But if they fail to protect the public interest, then the people look naturally to Washington.

In the fianal analysis the people, themselves, must accept the blame, because they elect the officials. The conditional return to local control in rents should offer a test, and perhaps it will wake people up to their own civic responsibilities, especially in the field of economic matters, such as rent control, where local politicians seem so susceptible to pressures by local financial and business interests.

In another issue of the past week, John L. Lewis's complaint against Dr. Boyd included, among other things, enforcement of mine safety regulations.

But it was clearly brought out in Senate debate that the bureau of mines director lacks power in that respect. That is a matter for state governments and coal operators.

How the states have failed is revealed now and again in investigations, most recently in the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster which disclosed the political influence of coal interests.

Frankly Speaking

Labor Bill, Coming Up

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — After many weeks of getting ready, Congress now has cleared the decks to pass a new labor law.

It may be months before that is done. Neither House now Senate is yet ready to begin the big debate on what the law should be.

But before there can be any new law at all, both houses must vote and agree on it.

These past weeks have been taken up by hearings in the House and Senate labor committees.

Day after day and night after night labor leaders, labor experts and business men have trooped before the committees to say their say.

President Truman's administration is pledged to wipe out the Taft-Hartley Act (or most of it) which the 80th Congress, controlled by Republicans, passed in 1947 to replace the old Wagner labor act, passed by the Democrats in 1935.

Mr. Truman's advisors presented Congress with a bill that would wipe out Taft-Hartley and restore the Wagner Act with some "improvements."

The job of the labor committees, as in the case of any congressional committee, is—

To hear both sides of the argument on a bill, decide what it thinks is right or wrong, re-write the bill if necessary, and then send up to the full House and Senate for a vote the kind of bill it thinks should be voted into law.

* * *

SO THE witnesses paraded before the labor committees to give their opinions on whether:

The Taft-Hartley act was good or bad, should be toughened, or softened, or wiped out completely and replaced by the old Wagner Act; or whether some parts of Taft-Hartley should be kept in the law and added to the old Wagner Act, making it a brand new act; or whether the bill prepared by Mr. Truman's advisors should be law.

Since Democrats have a majority in Congress, Democrats on both the House and Senate labor committee had a controlling voice in what would be done

And — when the hearings were over and all the witnesses had finished their arguments, the Democratic majority on both committees approved, unchanged, the bill which had the blessing of Mr. Truman's advisors.

The Senate committee did that a couple of weeks ago, the House committee on Thursday.

So it's their bill which now lies before both houses of Congress, waiting to be voted in to law. Will Congress approve it, unchanged, just as the committees did?

Probably not. No one is betting it will. Why? Because plenty of congressmen, particularly the Republicans, don't think the present bill goes far enough, that it's too one-sided in favor of unions.

And — a bill can be changed right on the floor of both houses, by voting amendments to it before vote is taken on the entire bill.

So don't be surprised if Congress finally votes for a new labor law a little different from the one Mr. Truman asked for.

Dave Boone Says:

WINSTON CHURCHILL, the first robin, spring weather and the press agents for Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus arrived simultaneously in New York. And everything would seem pretty nice except that the first attempt to bring back the nickel glass of beer is meeting with trouble.

I thought the five-cent schooner of beer would be welcomed everywhere as an American institution, a symbol of better days and a sign life could be made beautiful at low cost.

* * *

But the New York tavern man who revived it finds himself in a cold war instead of being nominated for the presidency, made the Man of the Year, given the keys to the city and having his statue put up in all parks.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Moscow May Move Into Norway as Test

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON. —This column probably will be greeted by Izvestia and Pravda with screams of "warmonger!"; while some people in this country won't like it, either.

However, here are some of the European trouble-signs the American people should keep a weather-eye on at a period when the Soveit Union is more than ever on the spot.

With the conclusion of the North Atlantic Pact, two divergent reports reach Washington as to what the Soviet will do to checkmate the new alliance:

1. Foreign Minister Vishinsky will come to the UN meeting in New York to wage a new peace offensive aimed at making the United States appear to be belligerent and the Soviet a peace-lover. The American embassy in Moscow is convinced this will happen.

2. After insincerely waving the alleged olive branch, the Red army will then march into one of the North Atlantic Pact countries--probably Norway--in a move to break down the alliance before it has time to become strongly cemented. This could mean war this year.

Moscow of course would avoid the outward appearance of an invasion. A communist government might be set up by a minority of Norwegians in the northern part of the country, which would call upon Moscow for aid. Thus the Red army would have an excuse to march in.

Or again, the same thing might happen in Iran.

No matter what the country, the Soviet is almost certain to make a major test of Western strength this year, and the unpleasant fact has to be faced that this could lead to war.

* * *

Moscow's Viewpoint.

MEANWHILE some strategists in the defense department believe the scales are so delicately tipped that there is greater danger of war than any time since Dec. 7, 1941.

Two main factors are behind this pessimistic conclusion:

A. — With completion of the North Atlantic Pact, two lines of fortifications will extend across Europe--the armies of the West on one side, the armies of the East on the other. Eventually they may clash. Therefore, it might be better from Russia's point of view to precipitate the clash before the Western line is organized and fortified.

B. — The Politburo considers its main weapons to be people—plus the psychological and political practices that influence people. Recently the people of Western Europe have been slipping from Moscow's grasp. Therefore if war is going to come eventually, from Moscow's point of view, it had better come now than later.

Meanwhile the Russians have already built their line of defense across Europe. Running from the Baltic to the Balkans is a series of Red army concentrations, munition dumps and air bases. Another line farther east, running from Vilna to Kiev, marks the beginning of Russian munitions factories. And important factories are being moved east of that line to further escape the range of allied bombers.

Opposite the first Soviet line, Moscow now knows that the North Atlantic Pact countries plan to build up a new Maginot Line, consisting of 35 European divisions armed with U. S. weapons.

France is to organize 14 divisions. Great Britain 6, Italy 5, Belgium 3, Norway 2, Holland 2, with one each for Luxembourg, Denmark and Portugal.

These 35 divisions, standing watch on the Rhine, will take about three years to equip and organize. After they are organized, the Russians know that crossing the Rhine will not be the relatively easy job it probably would be today.

* * *

The Atom Bomb.

THE chief factor which should deter Russia from war is, of course, the atom bomb. We have it and the Russians haven't. However, they may argue—with some truth—that the United States would never drop the atom bomb on Paris, London, Rome, Oslo, Copenhagen. And once Red troops moved into those cities, it would take years to pry them out.

Meanwhile, bombing the great open spaces of Russia is difficult. They are a long way off and Russian cities are spaced few and far between. Next to Africa or Australia, the atom bomb would be least effective on Russia.

But regardless of these pros-and-cons, it remains a fact that 15 divisions out of the 22 which the Red army has maintained in Siberia have recently been moved back toward Europe.

It is a further fact that the Czech bank in New York was closed the other day even though it was making money (Japan closed its banks here before Pearl Harbor); and that the Russian satellite countries are conducting an inventory of all military supplies in order to fix one central command for the armies of Poland, Finland, Bulgaria, Hungary, Roumania, etc.

It also remains a fact that the Russians, being partly Oriental, are tremendously influenced by "face" or prestige. When they lose face, they move to recoup it.

When the USA took over Greece, Russia immediately moved to take over Hungary. When we scored other gains, she took over Czechoslovakia.

Today, U. S. troops are in Greece, just a few miles from the Iron Curtain, which is comparable to having Russian troops in Mexico. Norway's new alliance with the USA has the same effect on Russia as an alliance between Greenland and Russia would on us, while the U. S. Military Mission on the banks of the Bosphorus might be considered comparable to having a Russian mission at the Panama Canal.

It's necessary and important to look at the matter through Russian eyes, because they are the ones who will finally decide whether to wait until the United States has built up its new Maginot Line or to jump the gun this year.

All of which is not a pleasant prospect, and we hope it won't turn out this way. But in this world of hard-boiled realities there is no use playing ostrich.

If, on the other hand, the crucial year 1949 can be passed without war, then the odds will be increasingly strong for a long period of peace--a period which the American people could use to penetrate the Iron Curtain with people-to-people friendship—the only guarantee of permanent peace.

Washington Calling

What Course In China?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE SENATE foreign relations committee in a closed session the other day heard some hard facts about China. The witness, Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, was just back from stricken China where for a year he had tried to advise Chiang Kai-Shek and the Nationalist generals on the conduct of the war.

Through the early months of 1948 his confidential intelligence reports to Washington had foretold the impending disaster. The advice he gave as head of the joint United States military advisory group was consistently and repeatedly ignored.

The incompetence of the Nationalist generals went at times to fantastic lengths. Thus in the defense of Tientsin Chinese armies were hopelessly divided and the communist forces took the city with comparatively little effort.

Most startling was General Barr's statement that an estimated 90 percent of all American military aid to Nationalist China was taken by the communist armies. At an earlier press conference he had said publicly that the communists had got the "major porportion." But in the closed session he spelled it out more specifically.

A great part of this military material the communists got without firing a shot. General Barr told the committee, in effect that no amount of arms from this country could have saved the Nationalist regime from disaster. He painted a picture of sprawling chaos and disorder in vast armies from which the will to fight had entirely gone.

The troops had lost confidence in themselves," General Barr said, "and there was a defeatist attitude throughout the army. That was the reason for the final collapse."

* * *

More Will Be Told.

THIS testimony from a soldier who struggled at firsthand with the China dragon goes against the gospel of those Americans who blame the Roosevelt-Truman administrations for the disaster.

Their number, however, is dwindling in the face of indisputable facts that cannot be ignored even by those who want to make political capital out of the tragedy.

Confronted with General Barr's realistic analysis, the old China hand reacts immediately by suggesting that he was put up to his testimony by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Those who know General Barr well resent this as a slur on his conspicuous integrity and independence.

It happens that Mr. Acheson did suggest to the committee that General Barr be called to testify. But that was because he had seen the general's intelligence reports detailing his futile struggle as head of a futile mission. Mr. Acheson did not seek in any way to influence what General Barr might tell the senators.

One reason for the controversy over China has been the reluctance of officials to make the facts public. A letter is in preparation in the state department to be signed by Mr. Acheson which will tell more about the disaster than has yet been disclosed.

As now planned, this will be sent to the Senate foreign relations committee and released at the Capitol.

When the figures are all put together, it is believed they will show the Chinese Nationalist government received more than $2,000,000,000 in military and economic aid since V-J day. In addition, the Chinese were allowed to buy at very low prices another billion dollars in supplies.

Undoubtedly the China failure, and America's share of responsibility for it, will come into the debate on ECA and the proposal to lead-lease arms to the nations of the Atlantic Pact. Quite apart from partisan politics, there are important lessons to be learned from the calamity.

Palestine Challenge

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HAVE been interested in the proposed plan for an United Nations' irrigation and hydro-electric power project in Palestine, as a means of bringing justice and harmony in a troubled area.

According to W. C. Lowdermilk, world-traveler and conservationist, Palestine and Southern California are so much alike that what has been done in California might be done with equal profit in the Holy Land

Climates are alike, in temperature, amount and seasons of rainfall. Both grow citrus fruits, olives, grapes, dates — two crops vegetables per year. If anything, Palestine is somewhat better off. Topography of the land is similar—the Dead Sea and the Salton Sea, both without outlets, and both below sea level.

The Jordon river is not as large as the Colorado, but both are muddy and most valuable for irrigation and hydroelectric power.

Both California and Palestine have more land suited to irrigation than there is water for that purpose. Palestine has limestone rock as its native base—California has granite and gneiss, thus Palestine abounds in springs, while California has fewer.

Nomadic herders invaded Palestine and overgrazed the hills with sheep and goats. The terrace agriculture, once highly developed, gave way to the goat herds and three feet of the rich red soil was washed off the hills and lodged in coastal marshes, where malaria infested the country and made it uninhabitable.

Essential features proposed for the Jordon area are (1) divert the sweet waters of the Jordon and its tributaries for irrigation (2) replace the inflow of the Jordon into the Dead Sea with the Mediterranean Sea water for power. Bring the sea water in through a canal and tunnel, and let fall through two great hydroelectric plants to the level of the Dead Sea, 3300 feet below sea level. Extract minerals — potassium, bromine, magnesium—from the brine of the Dead Sea. As soon as possible harmonize grazing and farming—this depends upon better relations between Jews and Arabs.

This project has been adjudged feasible and practical—it would cost approximately 250 millions and would pay out in 50 years at 3 percent. It is suggested that by rights, the first cost should be exacted in reparations from Germany as a small return for the 8 billions of dollars worth of Jewish property confiscated by the nazis.

Air Meets In Bucyrus Area Listed

Fifth Group CAP Sponsors Series

BUCYRUS—Schedule of a series of air meets to be held in Bucyrus and nearby cities, beginning in May was announced here today by Capt. William J. Wise, who is commander of the Fifth Group of the Civil Airf Patrol.

Participating in the meets, which will feature aerial games and practice training missions, will be CAP units from Bucyrus, Mansfield, Galion, Ashland and Mt. Vernon.

The first meet will be held at Mt. Vernon on May 1. Other scheduled meets include: June 5, Bucyrus; July 10 Mansfield; Aug. 7, Ashland, and Sept. 11, Galion.

In case of inclement weather, the meet will be held on the Sunday following the regularly-scheduled date, Capt. Wise reported.

From 24 to 36 planes are expected to participate in the events. Field radio equipment also will be displayed and demonstrated at each of the five meets.

Eisler Fights Committee

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gerhart Eisler, alien communist, today brought to the supreme court his legal battle to kill the house committee on un-American activities.

The committee called Eisler "the No. 1 communist in the United States." Now Eisler wants the supreme court to declare unconstitutional the law establishing the committee. Further, he asks a ruling that the committee has no constitutional authority to compel any witness to testify.

If Eisler wins the supreme court to his views, he will escape serving a sentence of a year in jail and $1,000 fine for contempt of Congress. He was convicted of contempt on a government assertion that he refused to be sworn as a witness when called before the committee Feb. 6, 1947.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Cite Father For Neglect

Ivan Stevens, 36, of Roseland, was arrested by sheriff's deputies Saturday night on charges of abusing his wife and neglecting his five children.

Deputies said Mrs. Helen Stevens of the same address, filed charges of threatening in a menacing manner. John H. Eisaman, city schools attendance officer, filed charges for contributing toward the neglect and delinquency by not keeping the children in school and by not cooperating with school authorities.

Charges were filed by Mrs. Stevens on Feb. 27 and by Eisaman on Feb. 7. Deputires said Stevens disappeared after his wife brought charges and his whereabouts were not known until he returned to the city Saturday night.

Deputies said Stevens would be arraigned in municipal court on the charges brought by Mrs. Stevens and in juvenile court to answer charges by Eisaman. No date for either hearing has been set.

Threatened Oil Shortage Licked

by Oil Industry . . . and Billions of Dollars

Last year at this time, there was a threatened shortage of petroleum products.

Today, there is no shortage.

In one year, the tremendous investment made since the war by the oil industry has begun to pay off in a swiftly increasing supply of oil.

In Ohio, alone, it's been a big job. And when we began to figure what was needed to do our share of that job, we felt exactly like the man who starts out to do the week's grocery shopping with a $5 bill! For in spite of doing record business and making record earnings, we just plain didn't have enough money. We used up funds set aside for replacing worn-out equipment. We used savings. We used earnings. And, because earnings were good enough to make our credit good, we "ran up a bill" by selling more stock . . . by borrowing new money.

Today, we're only part way through our building program . . . and you are enjoying the results in a full supply of oil, and in prices already lower for some petroleum products.

But part way isn't far enough! We believe you'll agree . . . it will be good for everybody if oil industry earnings continue to be enough to bring you all the oil you need.

FORMAL CEREMONY HELD FOR SCOTT-ROLLER RITE

Reception for Seventy-Five Guests Given At Home of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Scott.

IN A FORMAL OPEN CHURCH ceremony Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Miss Betty Jean Scott became the bride of Richard J. Roller. Nuptial vows were exchanged at the Church of God, West Third street, with Rev. Sheldon Johnson officiating. Background for the ceremony was of palms, ferns and two seven-branch candelabra.

Given in marriage by her father, Milford Scott, the bride was attired in a white satin gown, fashioned with a v-neckline and trimmed with seed pearls embroidered on to the tight-fitting bodice. The long tight fitting sleeves came to points over the hands. An extremely full train fell from the gathered skirt. Her illusion fingertip length veil was held in place by a beaded crown. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, tied with white satin streamers.

Her only jewelry was a two strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Scott, R. D. 4, Mansfield, and Mr. Roller's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carson Roller, R. D. 2, Mansfield.

Miss Joyce Scott, sister of the bride was maid of honor, attired in a powder blue net gown, made with a low neckline. A full skirt was attached to a tight fitting bodice. Mrs. Dean Schuler, a close friend of the bride and groom, was bridesmaid. She wore a gown made like the maid of honor's, only in yellow net. Miss Scott carried a front style bouquet of pink roses and carnations with pink ribbons and Mrs. Schuler's bouquet was of the same style, only of yellow roses and carnations.

Mrs. Scott, mother of the bride, wore a black and white flowered dress, black hat with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Roller was attired in a black dress with grey hat and black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink rosebuds.

Serving as best man was Dean Schuler of Mansfield. Ushers were Carl J. Scott brother of the bride, and Sherman Hooks, a close friend of the bridal couple.

Immediately following the service a reception was held at the Scott home. The serving table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Pastel flowers also decorated the table. Seventy-five friends and relatives were in attendance.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a navy suit dress with pink accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride attended Madison schools and has been employed at the Shriver laundry. Mr. Roller attended Mansfield Senior high school and is employed at the Barnes Manufacturing company.

Guests were in aattendance from Bucyrus, Marion, Columbus, Crestline and Mansfield.

GUILD MEETING . . . . . .

IBERIA — Mrs. Earl Stoneburner was hostess to the Iberia Federated Build at Sunset Farm on Iberia Road, recently, with Mrs. Wayne Longacre assisting. Mrs. Robert Creswell, president of the Guild, presided at the business session, which was attended by approximately 30 members and their friends. Mrs. Dwight McClarren was the program leader, using the theme, "It's Our Job" in a series of group readings and discussion. Mrs. W. Lee Rinehart conducted the Devotional part of the meeting.

TO BE WED — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herold, 446 Lily street, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Andrew Malthner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Malthner, 506 Wayne street. The wedding will be an event of August 6 at the St. Paul's Lutheran church. The custom of open church will be observed at this formal ceremony. The bride is employed at Swan Cleaners. Mr. Malthner is an employe of the Buick gargae.

War Brides Club Meets On Sunday

The Handi-craft club of the British War Brides, held a meeting Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Hupp, Grace street, with eleven members in attendance.

Mrs. Mack Parman, president, conducted the business meeting. Articles made by the group were displayed. It was announced that these articles will go on sale for the general public, at a later date. Refreshments were served buffet style with Mrs. Hupp presiding at the table. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Valentine Miller, 453 West Dickson avenue, April 24.

Looking Through . . .

The Fashion Spy Glass

Toppers are running full length coats a good race for popularity this year. The stores in town are evenly stocked with both because even the buyers can't tell yet which will win.

We're putting our money on the toppers because they are so much more versatile and less likely to go out of style. However if you're thinking that you'll buy a topper because you don't have enough green paper to buy a coat, put that little thought out of your head because it is our sad duty to report that toppers are priced almost as high as the full length coats.

There's one fabric we'd like to recommend. It's called milateen and is a very fine gabardine. All the toppers we saw in this fabric were beautiful. They were all priced at $75 and over, however.

We loved one style we saw called the officers' coat. Belted in the back and double breasted with brass buttons, it had big patch pockets and the one we saw was in a bright lipstick red. It sells for $45 which is a very good price this expensive spring.

But the really fashion conscious lady, with a liberal allowance is going to head for in a beautiful soft wool with a small pointed collar that stands up in back. It has square glass buttons on the wide cuffs and side pockets and a lovely flared back. It sells for $79.95 and worth every penny of it, if you can afford it, for its style and classic lines. This is one coat that any woman in New York would love to show off in the annual Easter Parade there.

For those of you high school and college girls who love a a novelty coat, we saw one in a very light beige that had one button each of blue red, aqua dacia and kelly green. The respective button holes matched the cloth covered colored buttons. This one sells for $39.95.

In general we noticed that most of the toppers start with a pleat about six inches down from the collar in the back of the coat. They almost all have some back interest. Buttons covered in the same color and fabric as the coat seems to be a popular decoration for the upper backs of the new toppers. And of course, belts in the back, wide and narrow, are very popular this spring.

Several of the handy lasses we know had a great deal of success in trimming down their old winter toppers. This can be done with your old spring coats too. But, use a little back interest to be in style. Either run an unpressed pleat down from the collar or tack a belt onto the back of your coat. Make it from the material you have cut off. Most toppers this year are 35,36,37 and 38 inches from the floor.

Timely Topics Name Officers

The Timely Topics club met at the Women's club Friday for a luncheon, with Mrs. A. R. Perl serving as hostess. A paper entitled "Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal" was read by Mrs. A. L. Lewis.

Members, newly elected to office in the club are, Mrs. Ed Huber, president. Miss Veronica Hanley, vice president, Mrs. William Clay secretary and treasurer.

The next meeting will be a silver anniversary party, April 22, at the ohio State Reformatory. Mrs. A. L. Glattke, Mrs. James Ehalt and Mrs. J. O. Hanley will serve as hostesses.

Miss Dunham Honored By Close Friends

Miss Ruth Dunham, bride-elect of Bruce I. Whiting, has been honored at a series of prenuptial showers by her friends.

Sunday evening nine couples honored her at a miscellaneous shower and dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sorenson, West Third street.

The table, at which the guests were seated, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of blue iris, white sweetpeas and yellow flowers.

Silver candelabra held blue tapers which lighted the scene. In front of the arrangement was a miniature bride and bridegroom at a white altar. The home was decorated throughout with arrangements of spring flowers.

During the evening a bride's and bridegroom's book were made.

* * *

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. George Hypes gave a tea complimenting Miss Dunham. The affair was held at the Women's club at 4 o'clock.

The buffet style table was centered with a group of candles with shattered white carnations in front. A bridal procession of miniature dolls was placed at the front. Mrs. Paul Hauserman and Mrs. Glenn Rohleder presided at the table.

Miss Louise Krause and Miss Linda Wilson presented several musical selections. Miss Wilson sang "Because," "One Sunday Morning" and "April Showers." She was accompanied by Miss Krause, who gave piano numbers. The hostess presented Miss Dunham, Miss Krause and Miss Wilson with corsages of white shattered carnations.

The tea was also a paper shower for the honoree. Mrs. Hypes presented Miss Dunham with a gift suitable for the occasion.

* * *

Miss Dunham and Mr. Whiting will exchange nuptial vows April 2 at 3 p. m. before the altar of the Bay Village Methodist church. The Rev. Ralph Alton, pastor of the First Methodist church, will officiate for the ceremony.

Mansfield Deanery Convenes In Galion

The meeting of the Mansfield Deanery of the N.C.C.W., which was held in Galion last evening in St. Patrick's parish hall, was attended by approximately twenty Mansfield women.

Msgr R. B. Goebel of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, here, gave a short address to the assembly. The main speaker was Msgr. Robert Maher, director of Catholic hospitals of the Diocese of Toledo, whose topic was, "Health and Social Welfare".

While the basketball team was fighting for the regional championship, the students, who went along for the ride, were having plenty of fun. . . . Ed Demyan, one of the members of the team, broke his bed the first night. What was the matter, Ed? Did you dream that you were beaten? . . . Bud Fidler and Art Hartig shared a wall bed. The first morning Bud rose early and pushed Art and the bed back into the wall. . . . Wonder how the team likes eggs. I'm told all they had to eat one day was eggs, eggs and more eggs. It seems they forgot to make reservations at the restaurant and all they had to give them was eggs. . . .

* * *

Dave Stanton and Jim Bechtler almost had to walk home. They hitch-hiked up and were almost sure they could get back the same way. But things weren't as easy trying to get a ride back. Finally Don McFarland and Leroy Douville let them share their hotel room for the night. . . . Rumor has it that Pat Ealy really had a good time in Sandusky. . . .

* * *

Shirley Reep and Miss Ferris were jumping on the trampolin, practicing their various feats when Shirley and Miss Ferris had an accident. Shirley came down and hit Miss Ferris on the head with her nose. All week Shirley has had to try to patch up her hurt face. . . . Last week the choir went to Lima and had bus trouble getting home. They didn't arrive back in Mansfield until 7 o'clock that evening. . . . The seniors had a meeting Friday to discuss plans for the prom and the big days that are in the future. . . .

* * *

Pat Sharrock went to see Tex Beneke with Mike Gruber. It seems when they got home Pat discovered she had lost or forgotten her keys. They waited on the front porch until 1 a. m. for Pat's mother to return. . . . Oh, what a day at school Wednesday. . . . Speaking of Mike, just how is the water in the swimming pool?

* * *

Say, kids, what's happened to the dances at the Y? No one's attending these days. Friday night they had a Hy-Fun dance with orchestra and all. By the time the hands had reached 10 o'clock a pretty good crowd was milling. The only thing the matter with that is they closed in an hour or so. . . . Rita Richert and Steve Stanton had some fast explaining to do to Miss Wiemer the other day. I bet they won't go to lunch early again. . . . The class play is Thursday evening. Wednesday morning the cast will present it for the students and Thursday for the adults. I hear it is going to be something no one should miss. . . .

Good luck to the cast of "Personal Appearance." I hope everything goes fine.

Shower Honors Mrs. Stutz

Mrs. H. W. Stutz honored her new daughter-in-law Mrs. J. G. Stutz, at a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at her home, 525 Kentucky avenue. Mrs. Stutz is the former Miss Agnes Russell.

Cards were the diversion of the evening with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Robert Au and Mrs. R. D. Lindsay. They presented the gifts to the honoree.

Refreshments were served buffet style at a table decorated in pink and silver. Pink sweetpeas were placed in a silver container to center the table at which Mrs. John Strickling, sister of the hostess, presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutz exchanged nuptial vows during a formal ceremony in the Grace Episcopal church March 6. They are now residing at the Kentucky avenue address until their new home is completed.

BIBLE CLUB

Mrs. Sadie Peregoy, 750 Woodhill road, was hostess Thursday afternoon to 10 members of the Mary Martha Bible Club. Roll call was answered by giving scripture verse. Mrs. A. F. Ramsey led devotions, giving the 23rd Psalm and Mrs. E. D. Buker led the lesson study. The next meeting will be held April 14 at the home of Mrs. Leo Hartman, 36 Stewart avenue.

Can Armor Lead To Amour?

NEW YORK — March 27 — How seductive can a bare-shouldered lady be—when she's triple-boned and multiple-wired?

This query rose today with introduction of new strapless underslips to be worn with formal gowns They're vertically boned to hold them in place

But so are the dresses they're under and the bras they're atop. Add a network of horizontal wires and the total effect is a fancily-slip-covered coal of mail.

Completing New Bridge

Structure Near Dam Spillway

The Gass road bridge, spanning the Clear Fork Creek just below the spillway of the Clear Fork dam is nearly completed. Paint will be applied during favorable weather.

At the present time the bridge road level is about seven feet higher than the road level. Land on either side will be filled in and gravel applied to the road.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the bridge, built by the Purdy Construction company, cost approximately $26,000 with the county paying one-third and the city, two-thirds of the cost. It will be on the county system.

The structure is 120 feet long and 22 feet wide, with a 20-foot roadway. The new Gass road has nearly the same alignment as the old Gass road, Rusk said.

He said the structure will facilitate operation of the reservoir and also provide access to State Route 97. Traffic will be able to reach that highway by going out Marion avenue road to the Lexington-Ontario road, then to the Gass road, which connects up with Route 97. Rusk said he anticipates making the Lexington-Ontario and the Gass roads one road in the character of its improvements and road surfacing.

Rusk said the new bridge has timber piling, concrete piling caps, 24-inch steel "I" beams and wood flooring.

NEARLY COMPLETE—is the new Gass road bridge, spanning the Clear Fork creek just below the spillway of the Clear Fork dam. The new bridge is 120 feet long and 22 feet wide. The Gass road will be filled in on either side to bring the road level up to the bridge.

A new trimming for dresses and sweaters is a strip of double Batiste with neatly stitched buttonholes spaced three inches apart. Both edges of the strip are finished with eyelet ruffles.

Bulgarian Boss Tries to Build Vest-Pocket Model of USSR

SOFIA, Bulgaria — (AP) — Communist boss George Dimitrov has built himself here just about the tightest little police state outside the soviet union. And he's still working on it.

The 66-year-old dictator who, according to western diplomats here rouges his cheeks and paints his mustache black to give an appearance of youthfulness and vigor, aims to create a vest pocket model of Soviet Russia.

Moscow-trained and a confidant of Stalin, Premier Dimitrov preaches that only by maintaining the closest ties and greatest reliance upon Russia can Bulgaria survive and prosper. He has decreed that anything running counter to this must be smashed as "a direct danger to our people's democracy." He has outlawed by nationalism, like Tito's in Yugoslavia, as "treason to the Soviet Union."

In Dimitrov's Bulgaria all things Russian are held up as good and virtually all things American and British are condemned.

Dimitrov tells Bulgarians that the U. S. and Britain have "from the first been antagonistic toward our people's democracy." His government is promoting hostility toward the western legations here and trying to get their personnel reduced. Legislation such as the projected new church control law is designed to sever remaining ties with the west.

By western allied estimates Dimitrov has about 400,000 men —uniformed and civilian—under arms in a population of about seven millions. The government refuses to give figures of armed personnel as a state secret.
